Biography

Welsh artist Jamie Routley (b 1982) completed a BA (hons) degree in Illustration at Swindon College followed by four years of study with the American painter Charles H. Cecil in Florence.

His work has been exhibited in numerous group exhibitions including those of the National Portrait Gallery (BP Portrait Award 2012, 2013, 2020), The Royal Society of Portrait Painters (2011, 2012, 2013, 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020), 'Figurativas' 15 at the MEAM, Barcelona (2015-2016), The Columbia Threadneedle Prize (2018) and The Ruth Borchard Self Portrait Prize (2019).

Awards include BP's Young Artist Award 2012 at the National Portrait Gallery and The De Laszlo Foundation Award for excellence in 2017 (The Royal Society of Portrait Painters annual exhibition).

The Ruth Borchard Collection, the UK's only public collection of self portraits, recently purchased his latest self portrait for their Collection.

He is a council member for the Artist General Benevolent Institution (AGBI), one of the UK's oldest charities which financially supports professional artists in need and their dependents living in England, Wales or Northern Ireland who cannot work or earn due to accident, illness or older age.

Jamie lives and works in London and is available for Commissions.
